your overnight Transcription in India

Home Ain't Home Anymore!

The high cost of transcription in the US is driving US medical practitioners to outsource the service away from home. In fact, the cost of transcription in the US is more than 300% the rate you have to pay for equally, if not better, dependable transcriptions services in countries like India. Home ain't home anymore, if you want to keep your costs down and your profits up. You need a home office away from home!

Welcome to the Indian Advantage!

The relatively lower labour costs in India, coupled with the very high level of proficiency in English and medical knowledge can make all the difference to your bottom line. The International-standards maintained in the Indian Infotech and Communications Industry are popular knowledge all over the world. The other advantages include:

- A huge pool of computer literate graduate manpower
- Stable legislative and economic framework
- Support of the Union Government of India and the local State Governments
- Quick provision to provide High-speed leased circuits – DOT/VSNL/STP able to provide internet/intranet leased circuits within two weeks of the application
- Indian Brand Equity for IT Enabled Services
- Low cost of Computers and Peripherals

Home is Where You Are the Boss.

More important, once you transfer and turn over your voice files for transcription, you can go sleep peacefully. Knowing that out in India, there are people you can depend on. People who will get your files transcribed near 100% accurate, and kept ready for you first thing in the morning.

Add to all the above advantages, you get a bonus of the time-difference advantage when your transcription gets done in India. You get 12-hours free. The records dictated at the end of your working day in the US, gets transcribed in India during the local daytime, and while you are asleep. Get your work done over-night, at daytime work-quality, thanks to the time difference. Well, this is like having your own office across the seven seas. Yes, your home office away from home. Home is where your job gets done, exactly the way you want it done. Home is where you are the boss. Nothing less. Meanwhile, sleep like the boss... undisturbed!

And, wake up to a glorious dawn!

Integrated IT Services

Your Home Office Away from Home

Set up in early 2000, Integrated IT Services Systems Pvt. Ltd. offers world-class Medical and Legal Transcription and a host of other services. These include Call Centres, Web Design and hosting, Software Development, Manpower Development and Placement.

Integrated IT Services is an important member of the Shriram Group of India, legendary financial services providers.

Direct Clients who can benefit from our services

Individual Doctors, General Physicians, Clinics and Hospitals who are currently getting their work transcribed from US companies can save at least 50% of their transcription bills with a bit of help from Integrated IT Services

Transcription Companies

Transcription Companies who do Medical Transcription for Doctors, Clinics and Hospitals can out source transcriptions to IITS. They do not have to bother recruiting and managing a pool of skilled personnel to transcribe. Instead they can transfer the audio files through FTP and have the transcribed files back by the evening for forwarding to their clients. Infrastructure and Employee costs can be cut by about 60% through your association with Integrated IT Services

Fool-Proof Security

The operations are carried out through two ISDN Connections. You may also login to our website www.cyber-mt.com and upload/download with 128-bit encryption using your password. Alternatively, you can opt to download/upload from your own FTP site. We have implemented HCFA and HIPAA guidelines on security standards.
